

Creating My Career Path: Embracing Change in My Journey

By Stephen Tharrington

A path unfolds, not straight nor clear,
Its twists and turns I've learned to steer.
With each new choice, I build my way,
And greet the unknown day by day.

The comfort zones I leave behind
Expand the limits of my mind.
I trade the known for paths untried,
And let my courage be my guide.

In shifting sands, I plant my feet,
With skills to learn and goals to meet.
I'm shaped by change, by risk, by chance,
A new way forward, as I advance.

No fear of failing, no need for haste,
For every step is not a waste.
Each lesson learned, each trial I've faced,
Becomes the ground where dreams are placed.

And so I walk, and so I grow,
Through winding paths I choose to go.
A journey built by hard work and determination—
Embracing change, I make my foundation.
